

FACULTY POSITION in CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY- THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MILWAUKEE

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (UWM) Department of Psychology invites applications for a tenure-track position in our APA-accredited Clinical Psychology Program. The appointment will be made at the rank of Assistant Professor. UWM is a Carnegie Research 1 institution. The Clinical Psychology program is a member of the Academy of Psychological Clinical Science. The department has rich collaborative connections with the Milwaukee community and area hospitals (e.g., Medical College of Wisconsin, Children's Hospital of Wisconsin, Rogers Memorial Hospital, Milwaukee VA Medical Center).

We seek to hire an intervention researcher who is interested in collaborative translational research focusing on interventions for emotional and/or behavioral disorders broadly conceived, including outcomes, mechanisms of treatment effectiveness, dissemination and implementation, intervention in primary care settings, applications for diverse populations, use of new technologies and telehealth, or other related areas. Our program and department have current strengths in the areas of neuroscience and health psychology, including affective and anxiety disorders, emotion, disinhibition and impulse control, adolescent substance use, pediatric psychology, and developmental disabilities. UWM is also a research site for the landmark NIH-initiative, the ABCD Study (<https://abcdstudy.org/>), which is the largest long-term study of brain development and child and adolescent health in the United States. While we are especially interested in candidates with strong potential for collaboration with existing department faculty, the population of interest for the current position is open.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. (completed by August 2018) in Clinical Psychology or related field. We are seeking an applicant who embodies the integration of research and clinical practice. Preference will be given to applicants with strong potential for extramural funding, demonstrated research productivity, post-doctoral training, excellence in graduate and undergraduate teaching, and the potential to collaborate with current faculty. The successful candidate is expected to contribute to the graduate Clinical Psychology curriculum by conducting clinical supervision of graduate students in our in-house Psychology Training Clinic and teaching graduate coursework. Candidates will also teach at the undergraduate level. Applicants must be licensed or license-eligible in Wisconsin.

A complete application will consist of a cover letter, vita, a concise statement of research interests, a statement of teaching interests, and three letters of reference. All application materials should be submitted electronically (<https://jobs.uwm.edu/postings/26877>). Reference letters can be sent via email to psych-facultysearch@uwm.edu.
